

Arthur Chambers

Mr. Arthur Chambers is an industry economist at the U.S. International Trade Commission, focusing on issues related to international trade in services, intellectual property rights, trade and investment with Africa, and digital trade. Prior to this position, Art was an economist at the Bureau of Labor statistics, where he worked on survey design and data validation. He holds a Master's degree in Global Finance, Trade, and Economic Integration from the University of Denver, as well as a B.A. in Political Science and Spanish from the University of Portland.